

Working with Nature

A plan for restoring landscapes and supporting regional economic recovery

$500
million

investment in conservation and land management work

6,690

full time equivalent
workers

$1.2
billion

long-term economic benefits

Timely delivery through existing mechanisms and trusted partners

Targeted support for young, unskilled workers and hard-hit regions

Temporary investment
during the economic recovery period

Supporting sustainable farming and restoring natural capital

Building transferable skills and knowledge

Providing meaningful work and income for local businesses

Restoring native
vegetation and managing invasive weeds

Conserving habitat
and tackling
threats to wildlife

Restoring rivers
and coasts for fish and local communities